A school community, TK-8th grade and staff comes together to create a stunning, collaborative display.

Project

Participants were asked to envision their “happy place”. To remember a moment in their lives where they felt connected, valued or seen. A comfortable, peaceful place; or energized by this feeling of connection.

In this memory, similar to photo form, participants explored the details of colors, shapes, and textures of their “happy place”.

Process

The artwork was composed of individual panels made by each person who works or learns in our schools.

A variety of materials were available for each person to choose from to create their artwork.

These pieces were assembled onto columns for a roving display on our campuses.
